1063 lockout ends

Steelworkers union approves labor agreement

By Michael Heil
Staff writer

Tuesday evening, members of United Steelworkers of America Local 1063 approved a labor agreement with American Steel Foundries by a vote of 394-242.

"The workers are happy to be back," said Gary Gains, a union organizer for District 7 Steelworkers. "We wanted to work under a fair labor agreement. Now we have that."

In a press release, Ronald Barker, president of American Steel Foundries, said, "We are pleased to have reached an agreement with the union. While it is unfortunate that we could not reach an agreement prior to the expiration of the contract, I wish to express my appreciation to the union negotiating committee."

John Worries, plant manager, stated in the release that the only way the company can be successful is to keep the labor force at high levels and standards to be competitive with steel companies abroad.

In regard to the agreement, union representatives said it will extend through 2004 and will include a $2 wage increase over the five-year period, starting with a 50 cent per hour increase the first year, followed by two 40 cent raises, a 30 cent raise and another 40 cent raise. Workers will also receive a 33 percent increase in pension payments.

The month long lockout affected almost 750 workers. The contract for the local expired Sept. 30, but was extended until Oct. 3. Contract talks failed that weekend, initiating the lockout. Union members picketed outside the main entrance of the plant, American Steel Foundries, which produces side frames and bolsters for railroad cars, is the parent company of Amsted Steel.

Population undercount may stall annexation plan

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A severe population undercount in the 1990 census may make it difficult for the city of Madison annexing Eagle Park Acres in the near future. The city's Finance Committee will discuss the financial ramifications of annexing the Eagle Park Acres area at a meeting next week.

One topic will be census figures that show that - officially - only 90 people live in the neighborhood. Finance Committee to consider

The meeting has been set for 3:30 p.m. Nov. 10 at Madison City Hall.

Hamm said the census figures were prepared by City Engineer Joe Juneau, and show an official count of 90 people for the neighborhood, compared to 256 for Cloverleaf and 400 for East Madison.

Most estimates of the population in Eagle Park Acres are in the 500 person range, in part based on the approximately 250 homes in the area. If that is correct, it would mean that less than 20 percent of the area's population was counted.

"Undercounting is a serious problem," Hamm said, noting that for the entire city, an estimated 59 percent of the people cooperated with the census and were counted.

Hamm said that the undercount would hurt the city because much of the funding it receives from the

Last chance for EPA testing

Agency is ending free cleanup of Superfund site

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is putting out a final call for testing and cleanup at the NL Industries Taracorp Superfund site in Granite City.

Residents have until Nov. 12 to request sampling of properties that might have been filled with lead-contaminated battery casings from the site.

After that date, the EPA will no longer take samples, and any necessary sampling and cleanup will be paid for by property owners.

Battery chips from the site were commonly used as fill or paving material in the 1960s and 1970s, said Brad Bradley, EPA project manager.

Battery casings are black; sometimes they have ridges or letters stamped on them.

Bradley said the easiest way to tell is that a battery chip will leave a black mark on either a board or concrete, while cinders will disintegrate, and rock will leave a scratch.

"It was commonly used to fill low spots that were flood prone, and streets and alleys," he said. "Some people used it to surface their entire driveways, they used it like gravel. It's sad, because it really took a problem that could have been capped on the site and moved it all over the place."

He said they have found battery chips as far as 15

Students picket over possibility of strike

Protest takes place in front of president's office

By Christopher England
Staff writer

Belleville Area College teachers and school administrators packed the college's board room for a contract negotiations debate last week. Now, the fight has moved to the halls.

Students are afraid that their fall semester could fall short of making the grade and took action picketing in front of the school yesterday.

Students stood in front of the president's office in defense of the quality of education that has been offered by Belleville Area College instructors, a quality which has led to BAC's reputation as one of the nation's most respected two-year colleges.

"We are known throughout the country as a quality two-year institution, and that means the faculty must reflect that attitude, and that costs money," said Charles Johnson, a BAC student.

BAC's chief negotiator for the board in charge of support services and public safety, Larry Friedrich, said the issue should be taken care of before a strike would happen.

"I think that the discus-

Ryan appears poised to invoke spoils-to-victor concept

By Scott Reeder

The spoils system of Illinois politics may be alive and well. It looks like Gov. George Ryan is about to heap some more political spoils on the plate of his home county - Kankakee. For months, communities from across the state of Illinois have been competing to be the home of a new state prison for women. I know, for some of you that the concept of a community actually wanting to import criminals along with a concrete wire and a lot of concrete may seem a bit strange. But there are plenty of community leaders from across Illinois who can't imagine anything finer. The reason is simple: jobs. This new women's prison comes with 900 jobs and an $80 million construction budget. That's enough to raise the eyebrows of just about any economic-development official. State officials had winnowed down a list to four communities:

Wenona, Hopkins Park, Freeport and Winnebago County. Winnebago County recently pulled out of the competition. So far, it looks like Hopkins Park, which is near the governor's hometown of Kankakee, is sitting pretty in the competition. Here's what the governor has had to say about building a prison in that poor, rural area. While visiting Winnebago County, Ryan said, "Hopkins Park is in one of the more depressed areas of the state called Pembroke Township, and it's an area that we are looking at very strongly." Ryan said a new prison would be a "real shot in the arm" for

Hopkins Park's economy. On Oct. 13, during a press conference the governor said, "Is (Hopkins Park) automatically a lock? Well it's certainly in the running. Sure I'd like to see it go there. It is an area that certainly needs help. It is one of the most economically depressed areas in the state." Hopkins Park has about 601 residents, according to the last census. If it gets the new prison, it will have 1,500 convicted felons added to the area's population. Ryan became increasingly familiar with the plight of the area when he chaired the Kankakee County Board and later when he represented the area in the legislature. Of course those days are gone. Since then, he has served as both lieutenant governor and Secretary of State. It's almost been a year since Ryan's victory over Democrat Glenn Poshard in the governor's race. But don't be surprised if to the victor's home county goes the spoils.

Letters to the editor

Where's democracy?

TO THE EDITOR:
This is an open letter to Granite City Mayor Ron Selph. When will you get the picture? People don't want to live in Granite City. But that does not give you the right to just keep taking them. You quoted the media in a paper last year saying, "Granite City doesn't practice forced annexations." But yet, look at what happened. More innocent people sucked into your city's immoral ways of politics. What happened to democracy, Ron, and the voice of America's people? Have you forgotten what country you live in? This is not what our forefathers had intended. It is what they fought against. The war against you and your peers to save our homes is far from over. Eventually, justice will prevail, and the rights of people in Nameoki and Chouteau Township will be recognized and counted. R. T. STACOFF Mitchell

Salute the vets

TO THE EDITOR:
When you hear someone mention a "vet," what do you think of? Perhaps a veterinarian, or perhaps a Corvette? In observances during the next few days, our country will honor our vets - the men and women who have served in the military to preserve our freedoms.

Veterans Day is a special day to salute our nation's military veterans. Freedom is not free. Rather, our freedom has been paid for with human sacrifice and blood. Several outstanding veterans organizations in this area will be sponsoring or participating public ceremonies, parades, memorial services and other events (in Belleville, the observance at the Public Square and will be on Nov. 11, in St. Louis, the downtown observance will be on Saturday. But we don't have to be a member of any organization to pay tribute to veterans. If we cannot attend these events, we can at least fly our American flags on this special day.

Population undercount may stall annexation plan

state, including motor fuel tax, is based on population. That translates into money for services such as roads and police.

At Tuesday's meeting, Hamm said he was still trying to determine exactly how much revenue each Eagle Park resident would bring to the city.

Hamm has said in the past that his major concerns are whether the city can afford to bring in the area and provide services. Alderman Norris Horton and some residents have claimed that the Council doesn't want to bring in the area because of race.

Residents of the area have requested annexation into the city, in part so that sewer systems can be put in. Hamm said recent annexations of the East Madison and Cloverleaf neighborhoods were accomplished without having to hire new police or street department workers, but additional workers would be necessary to provide services to Eagle Park.

Hamm also said that they were waiting on income projections from the city's TIF districts, which would pay for infrastructure, such as sewers in those neighborhoods.

In a related matter, the Council voted down a motion by Alderman Norris Horton to include a small section of Eagle Park Acres in a proposed residential TIF district. The proposed district includes Cloverleaf, East Madison and the Third Street ball diamond area.

Before the vote, Hamm told the Council that he would prefer to consider adding the area to the TIF after the city decides it will annex the rest of the area.

The residential TIF is planned to allow the city to build a fire station at the Third Street diamond, which Hamm said is his number one priority at this time, and to allow the city to provide infrastructure to the newly-annexed areas.

If Eagle Park would be annexed, it would most likely be added to that TIF district.

He said ENTACT Inc., the company now responsible for the cleanup, must complete it by Dec. 31 or face substantial penalties.

"It's going to take a little while to check it out, that's why we've placed that deadline," Bradley said.

GCHS takes 7th at sectional But Warriors improved much since last year, coach says

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

The clock has run out on the Granite City cross country team.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL The Warriors ended their season Saturday with a seventh-place finish at the IHSA Class AA sectionals, missing qualifying for state by just two places.

"Sectionals went well," Warriors coach Tom Haefer said. "We finished seventh out of 20 teams and I thought that was good. They only took the top five teams to the state tournament, but that doesn't mean that we didn't run well. If we had run our best, we still wouldn't have made it past sixth place."

"I was real happy with everyone's performance. Overall, we ran good times."

Senior Kevin Atkins was out front for the tribe, running 16 minutes, 46 seconds, good for 28th place overall. Gerald Curtis finished at 17:10 (44th place), with Josh Stillwell hot on his heels at 17:17 (50th). Jim Treake was close behind at 17:32 (61st), followed by Rich Skirball at 17:35 (62nd) and John Lance at 17:45 (71st place). Andy Balcer finished the Warriors' entry with a run of 18:00 flat (87th).

"The first five were very close together, within 49 seconds of each other, and that's what we wanted to see," Haefer said. "All seven had respectable times. Josh was injured until a week ago, so it was good to get him back. Curtis had a very nice time. John is just a sophomore, and he finished well."

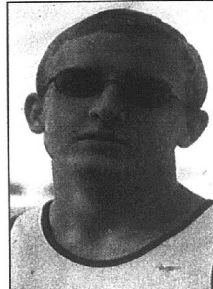

This season was all about improvement for the Warriors. "We have done much better at every meet than last year."

and it showed when we got to regionals," Haefer said. "At sectionals we beat 13 teams, and last year, we weren't quite so successful. At regionals we had a goal to beat Salem, and Salem finished in 10th. We had a goal to finish ahead of Springfield, and they finished in ninth. We finished ahead of both of them, and that means that we made progress. We are just not quite at the point where we were able to beat the six teams ahead of us."

"We had a very respectable year. We finished second in regionals, and last year, we were fifth. We finished seventh in sectionals, and last year, we were 11th. I was very happy with the team. I am sad to be losing Kevin Atkins. He deserves high praise. He worked very hard, as did Rich Skirball. It is possible that Rich could get a scholarship to SIUE."

Granite got a big lift from the sidelines this season. "We could not have done as well as we did without our coaches," Haefer said. "I am very appreciative for the good coaching of (assistant coach) Paul Greve, Richard Skirball and Tom Miller helped us on a volunteer basis, and the work they did really made us better."

The Warriors have plenty of legs left to make a run at state next year. "We are very enthusiastic about next year," Haefer said. "We are losing three seniors, but we keep a strong team. Andy Balcer is a key person. He will most likely play tennis again in the spring, but if he runs over the summer, he should be even better as a senior." John Lance and Sheldon Murphy will be even better next year. Josh Stillwell was a good junior, and now we hope he comes through as a senior. Gerald Curtis will run track again and will be good. If they work over the summer, they will be ready."

Althoff nets trip to state Crusaders blank Civic Memorial

By Steve Overby
Correspondent

The clock struck midnight Tuesday for the Civic Memorial soccer team.

BOYS SOCCER CM, which parlayed a

No. 6 seed into its first sectional title last week, ran out of magic in dropping a 2-0 decision to Belleville Althoff in the IHSA Class A Marquette Catholic Super-sectional at Gordon Moore Park in Alton.

The loss ended a dream season for the Eagles, who recorded many firsts on their way to a 15-9-2 campaign.

"I can't be disappointed," CM coach Don Woelel said after Tuesday's defeat. "These guys have over-achieved all year long."

Althoff, which was the top seed in its sectional and was making its second straight super-sectional appearance, takes a 17-1 mark into the Class A state tournament this weekend at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The Crusaders will be the only Metro East team to appear in state tournament action this weekend. In a Class AA game at SIUE on Tuesday, unbeaten East Moline United (21-0-1) knocked off Edwardsville 3-1 in the Collinsville Super-sectional. Edwardsville finished the season 22-4-1.

"We made plays at the right time but it still could have gone either way," Crusaders coach Dave Stosberg said. "We both had chances, we just capitalized on a couple of ours."

Althoff forward Mark Tampow scored in the 17th and 67th minutes to propel the Crusaders to victory. The junior has scored four times in the last three matches. Tampow converted a nice touch pass from teammate Chris Fludo to account for the first tally. Senior Joe Mark set up the insurance goal late in the contest.

Stosberg said the key to the triumph was his club's defense, which shut down CM's top gun, junior Mike Burgrund, who came into the contest with 18 goals. The forward only had one legitimate scoring chance in the contest on a blast late in the first half that was stopped by Althoff senior keeper Dallas Zimmer, who recorded his 10th shutout of the season.

The Eagles were never able to get on track offensively, thanks to a smart defensive strategy. Althoff used the offside trap to perfection, frustrating the CM forwards. Althoff dominated play the first few minutes prior to Tampow's initial goal at the 17:21 mark. The Eagles picked up the pace after falling behind but could not solve Zimmer.

Cougars pack plenty of experience, depth

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Metro East basketball fans may remember the outside scoring touch of Jacksonville High's Marty Perry from past Collinsville/Channahon Holiday Classics.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL A 1998 graduate of Jacksonville, Perry is bringing his long-range shot back to Madison County as a member of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville men's basketball team.

Perry and his college roommate, Ryan Sexon of Lafayette, Ind., transferred to SIUE before the start of the school year from Valparaiso University.

The Cougars open the 1999-2000 season at 7:30 p.m. Friday night with an exhibition game against Team Reebok.

"I think there is no question both will help us this season," SIUE coach Jack Margenthaler said. "Unfortunately for us, Marty broke his finger in practice. He won't be able to go Friday in our first exhibition game."

Margenthaler hopes to have Perry back in the lineup on Nov. 12 for the second and final exhibition game of the pre-season. The Cougars will host an Australian club team at home.

Perry (6-foot-9, 205 pounds) will be a bit out of position as a small forward. "He is a great outside shooter for his size," Margenthaler said. "He plays hard, and we like his game. He can lay it on the floor, but right now, we think he is dribbling too much. We are going to ask him to take the outside shot. Inside, we're asking him to rebound. We won't put him because of (6-4 teammate) Antonio McKenzie and (6-7 teammate) Travis Wallbaum. He'll face the basket all season."

The Cougars have gained some depth with the addition of freshmen guards Luke Humphrey (6-2, 185) and Wes Pickering (6-1, 180), along with junior college transfers Dion Perkins, a 6-6, 240-pound forward, and Nick Hartwig, a 6-6, 215-pound forward.

The Cougars (13-14 overall last season and 12-10 in the Great Lakes Valley Conference) also have plenty of experience in the starting lineup. The two key returnees are seniors McKenzie and Wallbaum. Both were all-GLVF performers a year ago. McKenzie averaged 13.9 points a game last season, and Wallbaum netted 13.8 a contest. Sexon will pair with sophomore returnee Ty Moss in the backcourt. Moss (5-11, 180) will once again run the point for the Cougars. He averaged 12.4 points a game last season.

Sexon will get the start at the No. 2 guard in the pre-season opener, with returning sophomore guard James Minshall (5-11, 180) also getting playing time.

Sophomore Derek Cowan, a 1998 graduate of Edwardsville High, should contribute after overcoming a hip injury. Cowan was a walk-on as freshman but now has earned a partial scholarship.

"Last year we were so pleased with where we did, we took it even more this year," Margenthaler said. "He is off to a slow start in practice because of a hip injury. He's one of the smart players on the team. He can back up at the No. 2 spot, point and No. 3 spot. We liked what he did last year, and he has the opportunity to play a lot of minutes."

Chaney pleased with '99 season

Warriors had 15-4 mark in dual matches

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Granite City's golfing Warriors had a disappointing close to an autumn of promise.

PREP GOLF The season ended on Oct. 12, when Granite finished seventh in the IHSA sectional at Clinton Hills in Belleville and failed to advance to the state tournament.

But the season was far from a complete wash. "I think it went real well," Granite City coach Boone Chaney said. "We were 15-4 in dual matches, and we didn't finish worse than third in any tournament we entered."

"We won a tournament at O'Fallon (Sept. 14) and finished tied for second at a tournament in Quincy (Aug. 28), which had 23 teams in it. We qualified out of regionals and didn't make it out of sectionals, but I thought we had a very good season."

The Warriors will lose a whole tribe of seniors to graduation. Jeff Jerden, Brett Briggs, Ty Suhre, Dan Harper, Josh Harrison, and Jason Dickerson all completed their final campaign for Granite.

"That experience really helps a lot," Chaney said. "We had basically a team of seniors and a smattering of juniors. Their goal was to get to the state tournament, and they didn't make it. I am disappointed for them, but I have no complaints. It was a great group of kids. They have all been very good."

Though they have big spikes to fill, next year's team will have a few familiar faces to help out.

Ryan McAttee and Brett Solberger will be back," Chaney said. "Hopefully some of the younger ones who played on junior varsity will step up, work hard and contribute next year."

It's official: Shortage forces IHSA to consider playoff changes

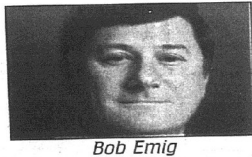

For someone who likes to follow the high school playoffs, it's difficult to take in the action during this time of the year.

There are just too many conflicts, with the volleyball and soccer playoffs usually on a Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday schedule. Then many Saturday football games and cross-country and golf weekend action.

What's a person to do? Call the Illinois High School Association, of course, and find out what can be done to solve the problem.

Believe it or not, the IHSA, through its advisory committee, is considering making some scheduling changes for next school year. It may work out that you can see your favorite high school in both the volleyball AND soccer playoffs.

But the changes may not be made to accommodate the fans. Nor to accommodate the media, whose staffs are stretched thin at this time of the year. The changes may be made to accommodate the officials. "I'm finding out at this time of the year that it's very difficult to find qualified officials," said Jim Flynn, an assistant executive director of the IHSA. "Both of our advisory committees in soccer and volleyball are considering changes for next year."

Flynn said the majority of the members on the committees are coaches in the sports. The committee also has a game official and either a school administrator or athletic director. The advisory committees make recommendations to the seven members of the IHSA board of directors, and they, in turn, vote on the recommendations.

"The advisory committees meet at the end of each season, so in volleyball and soccer, they will meet in November to go over the issues," Flynn said. "Wednesday night playoff action may be out of the question, though, because that's a religious night for many in the state, particularly in central Illinois."

Larry Cooper, assignor for the Southern Illinois Soccer Officials Association that takes in 31 area schools, knows from which water Flynn drinks.

"The regional finals are the worst," Flynn said. "This year, we had 10 games being played in the area on that Tuesday. That means, with a three-man system, we had to have 30 qualified officials. Quite frankly, some of them shouldn't have been working at that level."

"Then, when you get into the sectionals, there are another 31 sites, on which you'll have two games at each site on Thursday and another game at each site on Saturday. That's stretching the official pool quite a bit."

Although he's not on the advisory committee, Cooper, a Collinsville resident, has some suggestions. "They should probably look to play on more different days," he said. "And maybe they should think about splitting the two classes in soccer, playing the big schools on one weekend and the smaller schools on another weekend."

Cooper, whose son coaches high school soccer in Indiana, says the Indiana playoff system has some merit. "Indiana has one class, and it brings only four teams to the finals, unlike Illinois, which brings eight teams to the finals in each of its two classes."

Cooper said Indiana takes its final 16 teams and puts them in four sectionals, with four teams in each sectional. They'll play the sectional semifinals on Saturday, and then come back and have the two winners play later the same day for the sectional championship. Those four teams move on to the finals.

"It eliminates taking the kids out of school since they're playing on a Saturday in the sectionals," Cooper said. "Plus, there aren't as many games at the state finals."

But, Larry, do you really think Illinois, with its long standing Sweet 16 tradition in basketball, will forego the format in soccer?

"Stay tuned, next fall to see what happens. Hopefully, the fans will be the winners."

TOP TEN

■ Weekly rankings by NASCAR This Week writer Monte Dutton. Last week's ranking is in parentheses.

1. (1) Dale Jarrett	Can you say "champ"?
2. (2) Jeff Gordon	Will fill next year
3. (3) Jeff Burton	Breakthrough year
4. (4) Mark Martin	Never gives up
5. (5) Bobby Labonte	Best season ever
6. (6) Dale Earnhardt	He can still do it
7. (7) Tony Stewart	Honing his skills
8. (8) Ward Burton	Hey, bro, let me go first
9. (9) Rusty Wallace	Can't seal the deal
10. (10) Mike Skinner	Always on the verge

FROM LAST WEEK

BUSCH GRAND NATIONAL
 Jeff Green won both the pole and the race at Memphis Motorsports Park, but saved some of the glory for runner-up Dale Earnhardt Jr. By finishing second, well ahead of Matt Kenseth, Earnhardt built his point lead to 156 points, meaning that a second straight championship is within clear sight.

CRAFTSMAN TRUCKS
 At California Speedway, Jack Sprague pulled a second championship out of the hat, passing two other trucks on the final lap and taking the title away from Ford driver Greg Biffle. Sprague's victory means that all five SuperTruck titles have gone to Chevrolet drivers since the series began in 1995.

1999 WINSTON CUP SCHEDULE

Nov. 7	Phoenix International Raceway	Avondale, Ariz.
Nov. 14	Miami-Dade Homestead Motorsports Complex	Homestead, Fla.
Nov. 21	Atlanta Motor Speedway	Hampton, Ga.

FUD OF THE WEEK

Ward Burton vs. Jeff Gordon

A frustrated Burton, who finished second to brother Jeff at Rockingham, blamed Gordon for holding up his charge in the latter stages of the Pop Secret 400 at Rockingham on Oct. 24.

NASCAR This Week's Monte Dutton gives his opinion: "Ward thought that since Gordon had been lapped, he should have gotten out of the way and let him chase his brother down. This, of course, is not Gordon's way. He never gives up, and several times he has come back from late deficits to win. What made Rockingham any different?"

PROFILE

Dave Marcis

Dave Marcis made his first start in 1968 at Daytona.

By Monte Dutton
 NASCAR This Week

Dave Marcis may well be the last of a dying breed.

More than 30 years after his NASCAR debut, Marcis continues to fight the good fight as a regular competitor on the Winston Cup Series. Despite only modest funding, Marcis keeps his operation in business, supplementing the team's income with development and testing work for the International Race of Champions series and Richard Childress Racing.

In 1975, Marcis had his best year, finishing second to Richard Petty in the Cup championship standings.

AGE: 58
HOMETOWN: Born and raised in Wausau, Wis., resides in Avery's Creek, N.C.

WIFE: Helen

CHILDREN: Shawn Marie (29), Richard (27)

CAR: No. 71 RealTree Chevrolet Monte Carlo, owned by Marcis

RECORD: 855 starts, 5 wins, 14 poles, 94 top-five finishes, 219 top-10s, more than $6.5 million

In career earnings

FIRSTS: Start (Feb. 25, 1968, at Daytona), pole (March 7, 1971, at Richmond), win (Sept. 28, 1975, at Martinsville)

WHAT WAS IT LIKE WHEN YOU BEGAN RACING IN NASCAR? "When I first came to NASCAR, you could be a handyman with a good head on your shoulders, put a car together and do decent with it. The cars used to be so sensitive. You could muscle them and be successful just by using your wits. Those days are long gone."

ARE GUYS LIKE YOU STILL APPRECIATED IN THE SPORT? "I can't say they don't appreciate me anymore. I guess it's just that there's not as much need anymore for guys like me."

NASCAR has been good to me. I've had my differences, but I've never been a burden, and I've never tried to hurt the sport."

DO YOU STILL RACE TO WIN? "Well, I don't just ride around. I go out there to race. I probably could finish better a lot of the time if I didn't race as hard."

Who's Hot... Who's Not

■ HOT: Dale Jarrett's title run is back on track.

■ NOT: Mike Skinner has never finished in the top 10 at Phoenix.

Hand-washing best defense against hepatitis

By Angela Mueller
Staff writer

Local medical professionals and educators are emphasizing the importance of personal hygiene, particularly hand-washing, in light of the appearance of cases of hepatitis A, first in St. Louis, then in Granite City.

Hepatitis A is spread through a fecal-oral route, which means it can be spread if someone uses the restroom, then touches food or their mouth without cleansing their hands properly.

"The best way of preventing its spread is through proper hand-washing," said Paula Berry, registered nurse assistant administrator with the Madison County Health Department. "If people would simply wash their hands, it would limit the spread."

Local school health-care personnel have incorporated the lessons of personal hygiene into the classroom lessons of most area elementary pupils. In the Alton School District, a presentation about proper hand washing is done in every kindergarten through fifth-grade classroom each year.

"We use several different methods to teach the lesson of hand-washing, whether through example or demonstrations or videos or experiments," said Sandy Foshia, certified school nurse for Horace Mann, Godfrey and McKinley schools.

Teachers also encourage pupils to wash their hands after using the restroom and before eating, and these daily admonitions have increased in significance since the recent outbreaks of Hepatitis A.

The halls of Granite City High School were less vibrant last week as students shunned the classrooms, taking advantage of two-day parent/teacher conferences.

"The conferences went well," Granite City High School Principal Bill Rotter said. "It gave parents and teachers a chance to sit down and discuss academics."

About 1,200 parents attended the conferences Oct. 28 and 29. They moved from one hall to another, picking up their children's report cards and speaking to educators about what avenues could enhance their children's education.

"Parents need to know what's going on," said Tammy Williams, who, along with her husband, Steve, were waiting to speak with their daughter's math teacher.

Steve Williams joined in, saying, "It's better receiving the report card here than by mail. You can ask questions that need to be asked."

Mary Gillson and Donna Scott were sitting at a desk, perusing several papers pertaining to school safety while waiting to speak to their children's science teacher. "I have questions to ask and I'm looking forward to the feedback," she said.

The concept of the parent/teacher conferences, Rotter said, is to have parents and teachers communicate. That way, problems can be solved and education can be discussed on a one-on-basis in a quiet, pleasant environment.

"It's all about communication," Rotter said. "Parents go home more knowledgeable about their children's education."

The district has two parent/teacher conferences during the school year, one in fall and one in spring.

Trivia

Name top historical figures of millennium

By Kevin Carbery
Correspondent

As we come to the end of the millennium.

Hold it right there.

Those of you thinking your New Year's Eve party this December will be in celebration of the last of the millennium or the last of the century, for that matter, you are wrong. The end of the decade, the century and the millennium will be Dec. 31, 2000. I would continue to argue this point through the rest of this column if I thought I could come up with 10 trivia questions for the topic.

However, I am interested in all the looks back being done by the media concerning the close of the last 100 and last 1,000 years. Some are rating athletes. Others are choosing the top entertainers. Still others are picking those who have had the greatest impact on the world of politics.

I would like to break the subject down to this: Who are the historical figures of the last thousand years you would most like to have met?

No. 1 on my list would be Babe Ruth. Now, you can call me shallow if you like, but I think he was an interesting guy. He was the greatest baseball player ever, sure, but he was also one of the wildest human beings on record. If I could go back in time, I would want to see what it was like to go out on the town with the Sultan of Swat some night during the 1920s.

My next choice would be Benjamin Franklin. He not only had an amazing mind and was a founding father of the nation, but he allegedly had an extremely active social life. I would like to discuss this with him.

For this week's trivia quiz, the topic is historical figures of this millennium, which, of course, spans the years Jan. 1, 1001, to Dec. 31, 2000.

1. In the film "Braveheart," Mel Gibson plays what Scottish real-life warrior?

2. The Spanish hero Ruy Diaz de Vivar is better known

'Breakfast of Champions': a garish, overblown film

Vonnegut novel doesn't translate well to film

By Brian Kaller

Kurt Vonnegut is a fine writer. "Breakfast of Champions" is a fine book. And helping to make this movie is a cast whose star

MOVIE REVIEW

Bruce Willis, Nick Nolte, Albert Finney, Barbara Hershey and Omar Epps, to name a few.

But "Breakfast of Champions" is pretty far from a great movie. In fact, it's pretty awful. Vonnegut's surrealistic satire of middle-class suburbia takes place largely within the minds of its characters. Director Alan Rudolph's film version thrashes about desperately trying to translate this psychic landscape into special effects, using animation, digital morphing and scenery-chewing. The effect is garish.

The movie centers around

Midland City, a suburb whose most popular citizen is car dealer and television personality Wayne Hoover (Bruce Willis). Wayne is, to put it mildly, having a bad day. His wife (Barbara Hershey) barely acknowledges him, lost in the world of the TV. His son (Lukas Haas) has become a bizarre lounge singer named Bunny. His real estate has been walled off by the government for high levels of toxic waste. Oh, and he is going insane.

We also meet his paranoid, cross-dressing assistant (Nick Nolte), his relentlessly cheery secretary and mistress (Gleanne Headley), and a recently released prisoner (Omar Epps) who idolizes Wayne. We meet Vonnegut's recurring alter ego, eccentric writer Kilgore Trout (Albert Finney), invited to Midland City by an eccentric millionaire (Buck Henry).

Each of these prominent actors spends the movie mug-

Bruce Willis and Nick Nolte in Kurt Vonnegut's "Breakfast of Champions."

ging broadly, as closeups emphasize every over-the-top gesture. The breakneck, hyperbolic pace and REALLY REALLY LOUD acting leave the viewer worn out after about five minutes. And that's even without the floating cartoon words, the digitally wobbling parking lot, or the mirrors that open into fantasy worlds.

Director Alan Rudolph's film version thrashes about desperately trying to translate this psychic landscape into special effects, using animation, digital morphing and scenery-chewing.

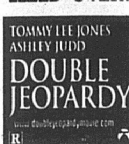

When everyone in a movie is unrelentingly outrageous, everyone is boring. The comedy can't be funny, because there is no one to sympathize with. When a movie is completely random, there is no suspense.

"Breakfast of Champions" is not uninteresting, but it is a tragic waste of talent.

'Being John Malkovich' is ultimate voyeur film

If whimsy translated into box-office success, "Being John Malkovich" would be the year's runaway blockbuster.

Fabulously funny and delightfully disturbed, "Being John Malkovich"

Malkovich" is the ultimate voyeur movie, a dark and at times malevolent take on what it's like to be in someone else's skull, looking out.

Extreme adjectives don't do this film justice. So here's a staccato rundown of the plot:

Puppeteer takes file clerk job. Puppeteer finds tunnel behind file cabinet, crawls through. Puppeteer is sucked into mind of John Malkovich. Puppeteer drops out of sky along Jersey Turnpike 15 minutes later.

After that, "Being John Malkovich" gets really weird.

The film stars John Cusack as puppeteer Craig Schwartz, Cameron Diaz as his pet-shop keeper wife, Lotte, Malkovich as Malkovich, and Catherine Keener as Maxine, the beautiful romantic interest for all three.

Craig lives for his puppeteering craft but can't make a living with his performances on the streets of New York. With Lotte doting over a chimpanzee, an iguana and a menagerie of other pets in their apartment, Craig's marriage is unfulfilling.

When he takes a clerical job on an office building's 7 1/2th floor -- with literally low overhead in its 5-foot, 3-inch ceilings -- he becomes enamored of Maxine, who rebuffs him with an icy cut:

"You're not someone I could get interested in, Craig. You play with dolls."

The cast is superb. Cusack combines brooding scruffiness with almost evil earnestness as he realizes he may finally live the life he wants by co-opting someone else's. Diaz is sweetly hapless and nearly unrecognizable under a mop of frizzy brunette hair. Keener is beguilingly mean and self-assured.

John Cusack, Catherine Keener and Cameron Diaz in a scene from the USA Films and Gramercy Pictures release, "Being John Malkovich."

'Body Shots' is cliched depiction of Los Angeles Gen X'ers

"Body Shots" professes to be a movie that defines a decade. However, it is far less profound.

Cool-looking but cliched, "Body Shots" takes us along on a drunken night with a group of twentysomethings in Los Angeles -- and the cotton-mouthered, puffy-eyed aftermath the next morning.

Four unnaturally attractive women and four impeccably dressed men with too much hair gel hook up at a trendy dance club. The music thumps, lights flash, bodies grind. It's just at first sight. About halfway through the movie, though, the focus shifts from being a lighthearted look at dating to a legal drama. The young men and women pair up in varying states of sobriety, but one couple's encounter is hazier than the others.

Blonde actress Sara (Tara Reid) accuses Mike (Jerry O'Connell), an obnoxious rookie for the Oakland Raiders, of date rape. (Cliche No. 1: the football player rapist.) Mike says Sara was all over him and was more than willing. At first, each of them is totally sure of the details from the previous night, even though both were hammered.

But there is a young lawyer in each of the two groups, trying to find the truth. As Rick (Sean Patrick Flannery) fires questions at Mike, and Jane (Amanda Peet) picks apart Sara's story, it seems neither can remember exactly what happened. Did Mike rape Sara? Or was the sex consensual? This conflict, while original, is the most compelling part of the movie.

Our heroes, Jane and Rick, unfortunately are pretty bland. The most interesting characters are the ones with the fewest lines. There could have been a better, quirkier movie about Trent (Ron Livingston), who looks ridiculous bar-hopping in knickers and argyle socks after a round of golf, and Whitney (Emily Procter), who seems like a sweet Southern belle but has some kinky hobbies.

Director Michael Cristofer uses interesting storytelling techniques, though, one of which Steven Soderbergh featured recently in "The Limey." A character looks into the camera to speak, then the film cuts to a shot of the character looking away silently, but we still hear that person's monologue. Cristofer also skillfully uses grainy slow motion to highlight a kiss or a glance across the dance floor. Then he ruins the moment by inserting other characters to gripe about the woes of dating. Example: Rick and Jane are smooching at a club, when all of a sudden Shawn (Brad Rowe), the only wholesome male character, pops up in a corner of the screen saying, "Sex without love equals violence." Now the movie has shifted from a legal drama to an after-school special.

Sybil Temchen, Amanda Peet, Tara Reid and Emily Procter in New Line Cinema's "Body Shots."

Film clicked portrayal of Gen X'ers

The film also falls short in its clichéd depiction of Los Angeles. The main characters are people who whine about their new breast implants hurting and talk on the cell phone while showering at the gym.

Also, the film's portrayal of the media is unrealistic. As Sara lies in a hospital bed answering detectives' questions, television reporters with boom mikes and Betacam clamor outside her door for an interview.

"Body Shots" is supposed to be a story of young people searching for love. After seeing this movie, there seems to be little hope of finding it.

A New Line Cinema Pictures release, "Body Shots" is rated R for language, sexual situations and a rape scene. It runs 99 minutes.

Film depicts ultimate voyeur experience

Maxine changes her mind, however, once Craig discovers a portal into the actor's mind, allowing people to experience all things Malkovich for brief interludes. Craig, Maxine and eventually Lotte, who also becomes smitten with Maxine, use their entry into Malkovich's body and soul to their own advantage.

For Maxine and Lotte, the notion of being John Malkovich offers a chance to live out gender-bending sexual desires.

"Do you have any idea what it's like to have two people look at you with total lust and devotion through the same pair of eyes?" Maxine asks.

For Craig, being John Malkovich is a shot at the ultimate puppeteering gig as he gradually applies his talent to making Malkovich do his bidding.

"It's just a matter of practice before Malkovich is just another puppet hanging next to my work table," Craig proclaims.

Early on, Craig wrestles with the philosophical implications of being John Malkovich.

"Do you see what a metaphysical can of worms this portal is?" he asks Maxine.

Pragmatic, Maxine replies: "We'll sell tickets. Tickets to Malkovich."

In the end, everyone gets a piece of Malkovich, including a band of old folks led by Orson Bean, who as Craig's centenarian boss has his own nefarious designs on the actor

Malkovich himself gets a taste of what being John Malkovich means. In a surreal scene, the actor passes through the portal into a nightmare world peopled by Malkoviches, and every word spoken has three syllables: Mal-ko-vich. It's a testament to outlandishness that screen-

Film depicts ultimate voyeur experience

writer Charlie Kaufman could dream up such a premise and actually see it land in theaters. It's an absurdist's delight that first-time director Spike Jonze, a music-video veteran, could execute it so cleverly.

And it's an audacious bit of self-immolation that Malkovich was willing to play victim to identify rape and put himself on the line in such a warped way.

The cast is superb. Cusack combines brooding scruffiness with almost evil earnestness as he realizes he may finally live the life he wants by co-opting someone else's. Diaz is sweetly hapless and nearly unrecognizable under a mop of frizzy brunette hair. Keener is beguilingly mean and self-assured. And Malkovich is, well, Malkovich, reacting with believable anger, curiosity and terror to an unbelievably grotesque situation.

The film features a handful of nice cameos by actors playing themselves, commenting on the strange twists. Malkovich's sexual and professional life take.

As funny and fresh as "Being John Malkovich" is on the surface, somber themes of bitter envy, vicious vanity and theft of self burble throughout. The characters have no moral compunctions about insinuating themselves into someone else's persona, squashing another person's soul to make room for their own.

Consequences are ambiguous. There is punishment for at least one of the guilty, reward for others. There is torment for the guiltless, and the implication of future suffering for the truly innocent.

In its uncertain morality, "Being John Malkovich" is kind of like being human.

"Being John Malkovich" is distributed by USA Films and is rated R.

Horoscopes

THURSDAY, NOV. 4

The watery Scorpio moon highlights power issues as related to the ego and the emotions. While it's important to strike a balance between them, there may be the tendency to wage an inner battle for dominance.

Adding Saturn to the mix makes everything feel heavier, like swimming through molasses. Rather than getting stressed about it, use the day to examine the responsibilities at hand.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Nov. 4). Try new activities. Though you may not perform right away, persistence in a new activity is your luckiest key to making new connections and improving your lifestyle. New friends come into your life for fun throughout the summer. Your best signs for love are Aries and Gemini. You could marry in July or September. Your lucky numbers are 9, 25, 29, 34 and 50.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Focus on making those tough but necessary decisions. The remarks of close relatives should be taken seriously. Teens find parents very helpful in love matters. Express opinions without hesitation.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You are at the threshold of a marvelous new career. Use this time to organize your home life in preparation. Creative pursuits bring new romance. Diffuse anger through sports. Devote time to passion.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Growing pains are a sign that success and happiness are close by. Reconfirm dates; others could forget or be late. Sudden changes confuse children. Emotions related to a new love will intensify.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Have the courage to end a romance that's going nowhere. Surround yourself with family during this transition. Friends become essential now. Attend fun social gatherings, and don't think too much about the future.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Tempo rary arrangements seem perfect, yet others resent your happiness. Short trips give you perspective on a problem. Forget work, as relaxation now brings efficiency later. Give yourself a break.

Horoscopes

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Review decisions, as there may be new information you didn't have before. Friends drop key business information in your lap. New romantic entanglements are worth the trouble. Say no to pushy people.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You've given intimates too much power. Keep personal plans a secret. In-laws want to help but may complicate matters. Stop trying to be all things to all people, and you'll feel greater freedom.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You've encouraged people to come to you with their troubles. Demand that friends return the favor. Call up a former lover, conversations will be rewarding. Follow your impulses, as they bring money.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Admit mistakes, and you put your marriage on better footing. Trying to do everything alone dooms you to failure. Neighbors give emotional support. It's safe to confide in them now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You have a very special link with one child. Excuses don't hold up in the end. Prevent flare-ups, talk to relatives ahead of time. Your charm is devastating. Accept all invitations now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Curtail community activities, they interfere with top priorities. Seize romantic opportunities without questioning them. Diffuse tension with your sense of humor. Be creative in social situations.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Being alone nurtures your creativity. Fidelity is rewarded. Bridge communication gaps by being more open about your motives. Voice complaints, and don't keep still. You will gain respect in turn.

Horoscopes have no basis in scientific fact and should be read for amusement only.

Greatest Show on Earth to perform at Kiel Center

Feld Entertainment presents the 128th edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey, Nov. 3 through 7 at Kiel Center.

Even P.T. Barnum himself would have to tip his hat to the cavalcade of acts sharing the spotlight in this year's show. In a mesmerizing montage of body-bending, fire-breathing, snake-soothing showmanship, "The Greatest Show on Earth" celebrates the dazzling, the distinctive, the unique and the unbelievable with bravado and ballyhoo.

Ringmaster Jim Ragona serves as host for the event. Marina, the Lady in the Cube, contorts her torso into a tiny cube only 14 inches high. Strongman Nikolai, The Iron Jaw, bends metal bars with his muscular mandibles and pulls a pachyderm with his teeth alone. Luna, Angel of the Air, walks upside down. Mysticlese, Master of the Mind, pushes his body to the limits of endurance by napping on a bed of nails, climbing the razor-edged rungs of the ladder of pain and grazing on a garnish of glass.

There's also Michu, the Smallest Man on Earth, who at 33 inches is tinier than even P.T. Barnum's legendary Tom Thumb. He stands shoulder to kneecap with his 8-foot-tall co-star, Khan, the World's Tallest Man.

"Only The Greatest Show on Earth can deliver such an edge-of-your-seat live entertainment experience," says Kenneth Feld, chairman and CEO of Feld Entertainment and producer of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey.

Tickets are now on sale and may be purchased at the Kiel Center box office and all Ticketmaster ticket centers, by phone at 241-1888 or 618-222-2900 and online at www.ticketmaster.com. For group sales, call 622-5454. For disabled access, call 622-5420.

Summerstage to perform 'Deadly Deal'

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Lucky audience member will become part of action and receive prize

Charles Lansing is a wealthy curmudgeon

GRANITE CITY

described as a "devious millionaire with lots of enemies," and his days are numbered.

Lansing will be killed during a seance at his estate, Darkwood, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Then again at 7:30 p.m. Friday, and once more at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, as part of "Deadly Deal," the newest performance at the Summerstage Playhouse in Granite City.

Almost everybody who knows him is a suspect, including Eve-Lynn, his third wife of less than a year; his brooding stepchildren Laura and Craig; his attorney Carolyn Bascomb; wacky spiritualist Madame Arcadia, who predicted his death, or Fenton and Minnie Marshbanks, the handyman and his wife, the housekeeper.

It will be up to Lt. Kenneth Paris, and a member of the audience, to solve the crime.

One lucky audience member will be picked out, and will go home with an "exciting" prize chosen by the cast.

"This promises to be an evening filled with spine-tingling plot twists and hearty laughs," said director Mark Lull. "The audience will see events as they transpired earlier in the evening."

Assisting Lull will be Charles Hill.

Cast members include: Dr. Richard Skirball as Lt. Paris, Kenneth Eliff as Charles Lansing, Nora King-Foster as EveLynn, Jenny Hill as Laura, Dave Cook as Craig, Lori Wilson as Caroline Bascomb, Ann Scott as Madame Arcadia, Julie Courtois as Minnie Marshbanks, Scott Laird as Fenton Marshbanks.

Spirits will be provided by Shelby Hill.

Tickets are $6 and can be reserved by calling 451-1032.

Note that Sunday's matinee is at 4:30 p.m., not the usual 2:30 p.m.
